

Consumers should decide whether they want copyright "protection" on their broadcasts, not the government. Let's allow copyright "protected" and non-protected set-top boxes into the market and see which type wins. Remember the ones pushing for this "protection" are the same ones who said the VCR would destroy the movie industry.